Owner of CENTURY 21 visits WA to share a wealth of knowledge

The Chairman of CENTURY 21 Australia, Charles Tarbey, will visit WA next week to update the CENTURY 21 network on global changes in real estate technology, marketing and training.

This update follows a recent visit to the headquarters of CENTURY 21 in the United States and where he attended the regional owners meeting in China where the real estate industry is experiencing growth.

Strong population growth, steady release of land developments and a boom in the property market in Western Australia, indicates a time to really capitalize on this positive market place, explained Mr Charles Tarbey.

“A recent report by the Western Australian Government outlining areas of growth and a strategic six year plan of land releases and new developments clearly signals a time of great prosperity for WA,” said Mr. Tarbey.

“The WA Government is predicting as many as 70,000-75,000 new homes and increases in population by as much as 130,000, there is no denying that this market has a bright future ahead,” Mr. Tarbey said.

“Our network is based on small business Australia, the backbone of the Australian economy and we are poised to help WA families realize the “great Australian dream” of owning their own home utilizing the expertise of the CENTURY 21 offices to achieve this”.
